1. An assessment of the range of risks to the continuation of study for your students, how those risks may differ based on your students’ needs, characteristics and circumstances, and the likelihood that those risks will crystallise.

The Student Protection Plan (the Plan) sets out what measures we have in place to protect you, as a student at the CECOS College London, in the event that a risk to the continuation of your studies arises. CECOS College London carries extensive experience in protecting quality of study for its students. This Student Protection Plan builds on our experience and is intended to assure our present and potential learners that we have appropriate measures in place to guard continuance of their studies with us.

We have covered the following types of events in the Student Protection Plan.

1. Discontinuity of Course
2. Closure of Campus/change of Location
3. Company ceases to operate/financial risk
4. Loss of accreditation
5. Risks of an Academic nature

Our plan discovers the kinds of risks, along with examples of events that may put a potential risk and explains what actions we might take in order to minimise the impact of these events if they happen.

The Student protection plan of CECOS College London sets out what students can expect to happen should a course, campus, or institution close. The purpose of a plan is to ensure that students can continue and complete their studies, or can be compensated if this is not possible.

Our Student protection Plan is;

- Easily available to current and prospective students;
- Addresses the specific risks to the continuation of study for that provider’s students in a proportionate way;

Risk to the Continuation of Studies for students identified by CECOS College London

The College has taken into consideration a wide range of risks that may hinder its ability to provide education to its students. We have provided in detail below the potential risks and mitigation measures that we may adopt in case of their occurrences and how best we would minimise their affects or chances of occurrence.

Categorisation of Risk

We have divided the risk into the following three categories;
Low: an event may occur only in exceptional circumstances (possibility at less than 10%)
Medium: an event may occur at sometime (possibility between 30-50%)
High: an event is expected (possibility at more than 90%)

We have also classified impacts as;
Minor: would be resolved through day to day activity
Moderate: would be resolved through a dedicated and designated team
Extreme: would be resolved through input from Senior Management or an external/third party

2. The measures that you have put in place to mitigate those risks that you consider to be reasonably likely to crystallise.

Financial Risk
Risk: The College is no longer able to operate due to poor financial performance or lack of financial strength
Likelihood: very unlikely
Impact: Extreme
Reason: CECOS College London has a good future prospective and its expected financial performance is reflected in the projections, business plan and commentary submitted by our accountants. The shareholders are committed to raise funds in case of any such financial crises. The College would also keep sufficient amount in reserve and has sufficient bank over draft facilities to protect such financial crisis.
We have business continuity plans in place coupled with the support from our shareholders and Directors. Such inside support would continue through the current year. Our balance sheet and reserves are comparative healthy and we plan to generate positive net cash flow from operations in the near and foreseeable future.

Premises Risk
Risk: All or part of our Campus is closed or not fit for study for a shorter or longer period of time.
Likelihood: very unlikely
Impact: extreme
Reason: The College has signed a proper and professional/legal lease for the premises that it holds for providing education. Therefore, it is highly unlikely that the College is asked to change its premises or discontinue its operations. The premises is well maintained and its risk assessments are properly done which further ensure that it is highly unlikely to face a risk of closure or discontinuity. In case of temporary disruption due to a sudden damage to the premises, the College has an option to rent out external rooms at a nearby College or business park. In unusual circumstances of losing the lease, the College will find other appropriate premises for the delivery of programmes.
CECOS College London has no plans in future to close down its current site. The response to any associated problem would depend on the nature of the nature of the event. Under all circumstances, special consideration would be given to the individual needs of the students.

Risk of Delivery of Programmes
Risk: The College may not be able to deliver full programme due to lack of staff. Staff turnover or non availability of other resources
Likelihood: Very unlikely
Impact: Extreme
Reason: The College does not expect a high staff turnover rate. All staff would be employed with a minimum notice period requirement. The College has a robust recruitment strategy and a comprehensive Human Resource Plan that allows it to review its staffing requirements and any shortages. The College would seek temporary or permanent replacements internally or a temporary cover in case a staff member leaves without a plan. The College also has established relationship with educational recruitment consultants that would assist us in unforeseen circumstances. The recruitment strategy accounts for all planned events (redundancies, restructuring, end of contracts) and unplanned events (unexpected death, illness etc). In either case, an impact assessment would be carried out immediately and gap filled with the help of multiple methods as explained above.

The College keeps all teaching and learning resources on its moodle in the form of course outlines, lesson plans, lecture notes and presentation slides, articles and case studies etc.,. Such resources are safely kept online with only authorised access to staff and students, wherever applicable. The website and moodle have a regular back up in the College server. In case if we want to change the IT supplier, we would manage the structure and timing of such change in order to ensure minimum or no disruption to studies. We may also consider alternate means of delivery during the implementation by making best use of alternate or affected systems. In case of involvement of a third party, we would work closely with them to minimise or manage disaster recovery systems.

Risk of Withdrawal by Awarding Organization or Partnership
Risk: Awarding bodies may withdraw their accreditation from the College or any partner universities withdraw their validation or associated risks.
Likelihood: very unlikely
Impact: extreme
Reason: College is fully aware of and up to date with the requirements needed in order to be accredited by such bodies and have processes in place to regularly review and renew such accreditation. The College has incorporated a Quality Assurance diagram, process, designated owner of the quality assurance process and a designated committee to look after the partnerships and awarding organization requirements. A thorough system of internal audit is in place that further validates the requirements of external stakeholders. Our stakeholders also carry out their due diligence checks on us on a regular basis including audits that keep us up to date with them help us to keep our processes and procedures robust and aligned with their requirements. Under any severe circumstances, if an awarding body or partner withdraws its accreditation, the College would provide an option to Teach Out to its current students and would work out the details with the partner/awarding body. Any prospective closure, in case of withdrawal would be done systematically and through a phased method so that all affected students can complete their studies. We understand that the circumstances leading to the need to teach-out are exceptional, when they do take place, teach-out would usually be practical and attainable.

Academic Risks
Change of course, amendment, suspension or updates – Low Risk and Impact is minor
• An ongoing commitment to quality assurance and enhancement at CECOS and its validating partner/awarding body means that, from time to time, programme content, regulations and policies will be updated.

• Where updates to content are made, for example substitution of modules, changes to module content or assessment activities, these will be proposed via Academic department, where students are represented, before approval by the validating partner. CECOS undertakes not to make any changes to programme content within 3 months of the start of the first academic year affected.

• Changes to regulations and policies may be prompted by the validating partner/awarding organization and will be considered at the Senior Management Team, where students are represented. Revised regulations shall only apply to students first enrolling after College approval of those revisions, unless changes are not deemed significant, thus different regulations may apply to different cohorts on a programme and will be documented in the Programme Handbook for that cohort. New or revised polices shall apply to all students from the start of the academic term following approval by the College’s Senior Management Team, with a proviso that for the remainder of the then current academic year, no student may be treated disadvantageously in comparison with the previous policy.

Closure of an individual course - Low Risk and Impact is minor

The College may make a strategic decision to close a programme because insufficient enrolments render it non-viable from an academic, student experience or resourcing perspective; or because it has been superseded in the College portfolio; or no longer aligns with the College’s mission. In such cases and where possible, the College will offer existing students a choice of two options, noting that the College undertakes not to close a programme within 3 calendar months of the start of an academic year:

To continue as planned to be “taught out” on the original programme, where the College considers this to be a viable option on academic and student experience grounds, noting that this may itself be subject to the number of students so electing. Where this is not viable, the College undertakes that in all cases current on-course students may continue with their current programme at for 22 teaching weeks following communication of the decision to close the programme and until the end of the term in which the 22-week period ends. Throughout this document, an on-course student means one who is actively enrolled, pursuing their course and attending classes at the relevant point.

To transfer to a similar or replacement programme at another provider, where available

Reputational Risk

Public domain/Media

• The College understands the sensitivity of negative publicity and would appoint Business development and marketing committee, version controls on documents and all materials for publications to be signed off by the Senior Management Team (Operational)
• Incident at the College
• Accusation on Staff member

Impact – Low

Public Domain/Media
The College understands the sensitivity of negative publicity and would appoint Business development and marketing committee, version controls on documents and all materials for publications to be signed off by the Senior Management Team (Operational)

Incident at College/Accusation on staff member
In the likely event of any incident at the College, CECOS has extensive health and safety policy in place. The college has a complaint policy and appeals process to cater for such incidents. In case of some adverse circumstances, CECOS is covered by a comprehensive insurance policy covering the subject incidents.

Closure of Business – Market Exit
The management of the College is committed and enthusiastic on its continuous enhancement with very realistic business and strategic plans

Impact Low
• As with all providers, an extreme set of events may lead to the prospect of the College. This may be triggered, for example, by the College becoming insolvent or through falling student demand,
• withdrawal of validation or regulatory matters, or a major event rendering the College’s mission
• Non-viable.
• In such cases, the following will apply: Where a decision to close is taken, the College will immediately enter a “continuity period” allowing all existing on-course students to continue with their current programme at CECOS for 22 teaching weeks following communication of the decision to close the College and until the end of the term in which the 22-week period ends. Where necessary, College reserves or shareholders will directly fund the College so that it may continue to operate normally for this continuity period. During the continuity period, where relevant to the circumstances and in consultation with the validating body, Shareholders may seek a buyer for the College. If this is not appropriate, and in any case should a sale not be agreed 2 months before the end of the continuity period, then staff from CECOS will work with the validating body to place students with the approved alternate providers, effective from the start of the alternate provider’s academic term following the end of the continuity period.

3. Information about the policy you have in place to refund tuition fees and other relevant costs to your students and to provide compensation where necessary in the event that you are no longer able to preserve continuation of study

CECOS College London has a comprehensive policy for refunds and compensation

4. Information about how you will communicate with students about your student protection plan
The Student Protection Plan will be available for students to view on the College’s dedicated webpage for the Plan. If the Student Protection Plan was triggered and the change would affect you, the Director of Studies would write to notify the stakeholders of this within ten full working days of the Plan being triggered. Once they have been notified, they would receive information on who they could contact to discuss their circumstances, especially if they had specialist needs, and where they would be able to access advice and support.

At the same time, information would also be circulated to the Student Representatives/Staff Student Committees within the College affected by the change. The information would make clear who to direct any concerns to and would provide information on where students can seek advice and assistance and on how you could provide feedback to us.

The plan would also be available on the official website of the College to be used by its staff, current and potential students and other stakeholders. Its location on the website would be under downloads section.

The Plan would also be available on the Moodle in downloads section. Any extensions or quarterly changes, if at all required in the plan, would be communicated to the staff and students via email and Moodle. Updated version would be placed on the College website.

The Student Protection plan would be reviewed annually so that it remains relevant, effective and up to date. The annual review team would also include member of Student Union or Student Representative. The students would have access to external and independent advice.
